LEARN THE VALUE AND PROCESS FOR COMMISSIONING EXISTING BUILDINGS TO REDUCE FACILITY COSTS, INCREASE COMFORT, AND MANAGE RISK! This live webinar will make the business case, set timelines and allocate resources for a successful commissioning process that will result in verified long-lasting savings.

Course Highlights

Retro-commissioning is the process of optimizing existing building systems (from HVAC to lighting) to achieve a comfortable, low-cost, and low-risk operation. But commissioning is a collaborative process, spanning initial investigation, implementation and verification. How do you involve the right people at the right time to address the unique needs of your facility? What actions will you take to verify savings are achieved and persist over time? Participants will find out how to make the business case for commissioning of existing buildings, and what can be done to keep timelines on track, as well as identify the resources necessary to be successful.

Who should take this course?

This course will appeal to building owners and managers, portfolio managers, operations managers, and anyone else wanting to learn more about commissioning of existing buildings.
